

Senate delegation

Working with Canada on visa

NEWS DESK

Pakistan's High Commissioner in Canada Tariq Azim Khan has said that the mission is working with Canadian officials to facilitate visa issuance to Pakistani traders and international students.

He made these remarks during a meeting with a delegation from the Senate of Pakistan led by Deputy Chairman Saleem Mandviwalla in Ottawa.

The delegates have been invited at the Forum of Federations. Senator Muhammad Javed Abbasi and Senator Aurangzeb Khan also accompanied the deputy chairman. The high commissioner briefed the Senate delegation about the current status of Pakistan-Canada bilateral relations and efforts being made to enhance bilateral relations between the two countries. He also briefed the delegation on Pakistani-Canadian diaspora and what important role the community can play in promoting better understanding of Pakistan in their adopted homeland. The deputy chairman and the accompanying senators exchanged views on enhancing bilateral relations and promoting soft image of the country in Canada.
